NEVADA STATE ASSOCIATION OF PARLIAMENTARIANS

ANNUAL MEETING – October 12, 2013 – Texas Station Convention Center

Have you recently been elected to an office of your organization, or hope to be in the future?

From Presiding Officers and Board Members to Committee Chairmen and Members, this educational opportunity is for you!

The morning will begin with our NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF PARLIAMENTARIANS® (NAP) District Director John Hohlbauch, Professional Registered Parliamentarian, who will lead a presiding activity to help all participants become better at chairing a meeting. Since any member can be elected to chair a meeting in the absence of certain officers, you need these basic skills.

“What’s in Your Toolbox?” will focus on those items – tangible and intangible – that each officer should have to ensure that meetings run efficiently. Few officers, although willing to serve, are fully prepared for their job. Did you receive a detailed manual of all the duties and responsibilities of your role in the organization? Paula Petruso, Registered Parliamentarian, will provide the list and some inside knowledge.

After lunch, Gail Knapp, Professional Registered Parliamentarian, will share a game-based activity to further your knowledge of running or participating in your organization. This is the fun way to become an effective, active member and to gain leadership skills.

Following the education, the NSAP members invite you to remain for our annual NSAP convention.

There will be an opportunity to network with Nevada parliamentarians as well as meet our national district director, purchase materials related to parliamentary procedure (workshop handouts included in the cost of the workshop), and have lunch.

$30 fee includes meeting room, lunch, workshops, and handouts.
(Late registration is $40 or $45 at the door)

Calling all Nevada State Association of Parliamentarians and other interested folks!

RTC Seeks Elementary and Middle School Students for 7th Annual Anti-graffiti Art Contest

Article Courtesy of the RTC

The Regional Transportation Commission of Southern Nevada (RTC) invites local elementary and middle school students to submit artwork to participate in its 7th annual 2013 RTC Anti-Graffiti Art Contest. This year's theme is: "Keep Southern Nevada Graffiti Free."

The RTC is challenging students valley-wide to create artwork that encourages Southern Nevadans to respect each other's property and not devalue and deface it with graffiti.

The grand prize winners' artwork will be unveiled this December during a special event hosted by the winning school. The top entries will also be featured on an RTC vehicle and other transit amenities for up to one year. Crime Stoppers has also donated 10 shelter ads through Outdoor Promotions to display the Top 10 pieces of art.

Artwork submitted for the contest must be an original concept, in color; no black and white, photography or glitter will be accepted. Art tools may include markers, crayons, colored pencils or paints. Students must submit artwork on an 11-by-17-inch landscape piece of paper to be considered in the contest.

The deadline for artwork is Thursday, Oct. 17 by 5 p.m. It can be mailed or hand-delivered to the RTC Administrative Office, 600 S. Grand Central Parkway, Suite 350, Las Vegas, NV, 89106; Attention: Aileen Pastor. Full entry details can be found on the RTC website. More information is also available through Aileen Pastor via email at pastora@rtcsonv.com or by phone at (702) 676-1735.

In its 7th year, the annual RTC Anti-Graffiti Art Contest, the RTC is partnering with the Southern Nevada Graffiti Coalition, Las Vegas Metropolitan Police Department Graffiti Investigation Section, Crime Stoppers, Outdoor Promotions, Vector Media Las Vegas, and the Clark County School District.
